EAST NEW YORK COMMUNITY LAND TRUST

About East New York Community Land Trust

We, East New York and Brownsville residents, formed the ENYCLT to fight for community ownership of land and buildings and collective wealth building.

It was a proactive measure to address our concern that the COVID-19 pandemic would exacerbate real estate trends in East New York, which for decades have driven up the cost of land at residents' expense. The community had just been hit by the 2016 rezoning that flooded the neighborhood with speculative predatory investors.

As the real estate industry accelerated its house flipping for profit, we came together in the middle of a pandemic to create a CLT to bring truly affordable housing to the neighborhood and begin to address years of broken promises.

In doing our best to be led with integrity, democratic processes, bold activism, and collaboration, we build on the work of local legends like community activist Granville Payne and others.

Financial support will allow us to:

1. Onboard at least 1 additional full-time employee
2. Synthesize results of community vision sessions to create & submit vacant lot development proposals to the City of New York
3. Hire an architect to create schematic designs based on community input
4. Build a local coalition to fight for a community vision for the city-owned vacant lots across ENY
